you are up to your ass in alligators, today is the first day of the rest of your life dimitri karakostas

in this fantasy, you are a tape-recorded message.

you are coming and wait with anticipation. you are reading for yourself or someone else, you can help make the reading more relevant and valuable by being a little prepared and having a "dear question" or purpose for the reading. you are a student of the I Ching and able to read into the depths of each of the hexagrams and the lines that comprise them, you will find the medium limited– information concise and dear, but not voluminous. you are taking it seriously. you are wanting. you are not feeling well, these also can impact the quality of the reading and the tone. you are doing the reading "just for fun", take it a little seriously. you are clear and direct with the reader about what's going on in your life and what you need to know right now, you'll have a much better chance of getting an accurate reading that provides you with some good guidance and direction. you are now. you are close now, try some slight changes in the volume and try again by choosing "R" to record. you are lucky enough to have a second usable tape recorder, you can hook up that one to plug 2#. you are now ready to check out your system. you are told to record, you should now see the tape moving. you are probably using a recorder that won't work well consis- tently. you are home free. relax and go on to the next paragraph. you are in good shape. you are through with it so that it can be read in the next time around. you are making the tape for and what you hope to express to them. you are just trying to share some music. you are an experienced and confident mixtape creator, take your tape to the next level by filling in every possible gap between the songs to create a continuous sonic experience. you are able to get lengths for each track, do so. you are copying a song from into the appropriate player on the stereo or hi-fi. you are recording from an LP, drop the the needle just before the song you want to record, and once the record reaches the silent space between tracks, push “record” on the tape deck. you are satisfied. you are going to show them a lot of new music, spend some time trying to guess whether or not they'll actually enjoy listening to any of it first. you are planning to give away. you are bringing your tape to work with the intention of playing it over the speakers so you can listen to it while you do your job, the most important consideration (aside from picking songs you like) is the wants and preferences of the other people who will hear the tape. you are not available has made life easier for us in many ways. you are not available to answer a phone call. you are far away from home and want to check the messages on your answering machine? Well, if your answering machine has a remote access feature, you'll be able to check your messages using another phone. you are recording the conversation. you are away. you are already a member. you are writing to. you are recording at. you are intending to save a Project to save an empty Project before you start recording, with the File > Save Project As. you are starting (or change the location of Audacity's temporary folder) to a disk with more space on it. you are disposing of scanned copies or microfilm please indicate after the record series title that these are microfilmed or scanned versions of the record and sign in the lower right hand corner of the form. you are coming and wait with anticipation. you are reading for yourself or someone else, you can help make the reading more relevant and valuable by being a little prepared and having a "dear question" or purpose for the reading. you are a student of the I Ching and able to read into the depths of each of the hexagrams and the lines that comprise them, you will find the medium limited– information concise and dear, but not voluminous. you are taking it seriously. you are wanting. you are not feeling well, these also can impact the quality of the reading and the tone. you are doing the reading "just for fun", take it a little seriously. you are clear and direct with the reader about what's going on in your life and what you need to know right now, you'll have a much better chance of getting an accurate reading that provides you with some good guidance and direction. you are now. you are making the tape for and what you hope to express to them. you are just trying to share some music. you are an experienced and confident mixtape creator, take your tape to the next level by filling in every possible gap between the songs to create a continuous sonic experience. you are able to get lengths for each track, do so. you are copying a song from into the appropriate player on the stereo or hi-fi. you are recording from an LP, drop the the needle just before the song you want to record, and once the record reaches the silent space between tracks, push “record” on the tape deck. you are satisfied. you are going to show them a lot of new music, spend some time trying to guess whether or not they'll actually enjoy listening to any of it first. you are planning to give away. you are bringing your tape to work with the intention of playing it over the speakers so you can listen to it while you do your job, the most important consideration (aside from picking songs you like) is the wants and preferences of the other people who will hear the tape. you are close now, try some slight changes in the volume and try again by choosing "R" to record. you are lucky enough to have a second usable tape recorder, you can hook up that one to plug 2#. you are now ready to check out your system. you are told to record, you should now see the tape moving. you are probably using a recorder that won't work well consis- tently. you are home free. are now telling all of this to yourself. you are free to live your life & grow your business in full alignment with your soul & who you truly are. you are going to check out of the land of the walking dead, you are going to have to give up your addiction to comfort and press into the hardship of life. you are and are not worthy of: you are now telling all of this to yourself. you are free to live your life & grow your business in full alignment with your soul & who you truly are.

you are to be slave to the first man you meet, with an intellect superior to your own. you are about and what you value. you are not willing to make the sacrifice, then keep searching. you are beyond that pain. you are patient in one moment of anger, you will avoid one hundred days of sorrow. you are willing to give up being a caterpillar. you are inside of something, say an atom, you only see electrons whirling chaotically around you. you are conceding that it can't be taken on its own merits. you are against weakens you. you are for empowers you. you are not wholeheartedly following your own ideals. you are not present, you are present. you are in a shipwreck and all the boats are gone, a piano top buoyant enough to keep you afloat may come along and make a fortuitous life preserver. you are much more awake than when you are engrossed in thinking. you are not just a drop in the ocean, you the mighty ocean in the drop. you are feeling a lot of grief, you can look right into somebody's eyes because you feel you haven't got anything to lose—you're just there. you are content with your failure. you are never upset for the reason you think. you are avoiding some truth about yourself. you are uninformed; if you do read the newspaper you are misinformed. you are leaping a ravine, the moment of takeoff is a bad time for considering alternative strategies. you are completely absorbed or caught up in something, you become oblivious to things around you, or to the passage of time. you are doing that frees your unconscious and releases your creative imagination. you are depressed, you are living in the past. you are anxious, you are living in the future. you are at peace, you are living in the present. you are working on showing impossibility as discovering the possible, as long as you are rigorous and get rigorous peer review. you are requires letting go of who you imagine yourself to be. you are an aperture through which the universe is looking at and exploring itself. you are the easiest person to fool. you are God? Why submit to humiliation and death on a cross, in order to save those who hate you? God suffered punishment in our place because of a radical love. you are asking here, though, because anything I say will be ignorant of your personal experiences, and, as David pointed out, those experiences, subjective opinions and particular subconscious processes are generally what are driving these discussions and not a good-faith discussion on abstract or empirical truth. you are trying to meet God on your terms. you are demanding justice of God, if there is one. you are not a theist, but a naturalistic materialist, then this behavior would be expected as part and parcel with survival of the fittest. you are a theist, then you are left with exploring the issue of what evil is, why it exists, and what is God doing about it. you are welcome to do your due diligence and read it for yourself. you are a deity trying to leave an impression, you don't feed a few thousand wirh a few fish, you end hunger worlwide. you are a deity that wishes all mankind to believe, worship, and obey you, your form of communicating that should not be a collection of stories with questionable authorship and internal inconsistencies written in a language that was all but extinct for hundreds of years and is readable by only a fraction of the world's population unless translated into a myriad of other languages. you are arguing against the true God. you are an exception to the rule when it comes to theists, CD. you are skirting on the verge of a deep issue that theologians have theorised, debated & pondered for a very long time, & different denominations take different perspectives over, & that is the practical application of God's plan. you are the first person to address my argument! Something is moral or it is,not. you are telling me you believe it is impossible for an all-knowing, all powerful being to overcome the drawbacks of a human economic system and feed starving children. you are proposing to limit the power of your god in such a manner. you are faced with an opportunity to choose how to spend your eternity, your choice will be informed by your life experiences, the suffering of a godless world is easier to understand, endure and see through. you are a deist and not a theist? gpenglase says: October 2017 ,21 at 5:44 am That's a false dichtomy – intervention or interaction doesn't of itself deny anyone free will. you are capable of preventing evil and look the other way, you are complicit in the evil. you are claiming that reality itself is evil and life is not worth living for aggregate humanity. you are not feeding them either. you are not actually seeking an answer – but rather merely seeking to destroy the faith of others. you are parroting an excuse for evil given to you by your preachers and teachers, but if you think about it using your own common sense you will see the excuse in inadequate. you are wrong. you are immoral in that instance. you are contradicting yourself if you say he needs no interpretation and then agree he does in the Bible. you are easily capable of preventing them This goes back to my original question, so let me post it yet again and you can be the first to not dodge answering it. you are saying you believe it is moral for a being that has the power to stop suffering to not act and end it? You actually believe it is moral for your god to stand by while amchild is raped a d watch it rather than stop it? Milton Platt says: May 2017 ,29 at 4:59 pm You believe your god designed the system and set it into motion, didn't right? Therefor he is wholly resposible for any and all results. you are saying that your god is subordinated to Satan, then? Milton Platt says: June 2017 ,1 at 4:37 am and the reason your god acts in an immoral fashion is what? Milton Platt says: June ,1 2017 at 2:56 am So now Satan is more powerful than your god??? Hugh7 says: June 2017 ,1 at 6:56 am So you have TWO all powerful deities in your universe. you are going to argue about God, then take him on his own terms, don't alter the facts. you are completely missing the point. you are acknowledging that you don't know that these "revelations" you're getting are coming from God? Pierre says: June 2017 ,5 at 7:45 pm Annie, what you're doing is explaining why you believe it is god which is revealing himself to you. you are saying he competely reveals himself in ways other than than the Bible, then you have made that collection of stories of little value. you are really making. you are looking for in Revelation 1 to get the right view so as not to be entrenched i nthe past. you are welcome to contact her and ask, or not–that is your choice. you are welcome to structinize to your hearts' content, and even rationalize away rationality while you are at it, but at the end of the day you are just a juror–not a jury. you are making: http://strangenotions. you are saying that reality as defined by you is truth. you are suggesting that I read books that will convince me of your way of thinking. you are using "we" in a collective sense. you are blind to the obvious existence of incredible wonder, complexity and order in the universe which scientific "fact" (not unprovable theory as some false claims are) bears out, doesn't mean that there is a lack of evidence, on a lack of acceptance of the obvious evidence that we behold each day and is continually reinforced from science. you are doing? Still open to chatting, I do understand if you don't want to but still open. you are playing games. you are forced to. you are in the weeds here. you are in denial my friend. you are sadly mistaken my friend. you are content to invoke a miracle of uncaused effects. you are indeed invoking Pascal's Wager, and it is dishonest (and impossible for an internally honest person) to base their belief on fear or hope of the consequences. you are reading the Bible without understanding. you are reading. you are so "at odds" with the rest of the world, you are not following the example associated with narratives about your prophet: Jesus' entire adult life was characterized by a deep concern for the spiritual condition of the nonbeliever. you are as a person" has to do with the celebration of a union that is impossible, that's sad and irrational. you are so sure that your spin on this point is correct, let's see chapter and verse that supports it. you are confused and blinkered. you are confusing correlation with causation. you are worth His life, and he would have died for just you. you are too close-minded to see it. you are wanting empirical evidence for God. you are in a state of cognitive dissonance. you are a superior rationalist looking down on them from a position of mature reason; yet your basic errors of comprehension and logic show the exact opposite to be true – unless of course you don't believe what you write and are merely trolling. you are insisting that God must prevent SOME evil — the kind that strikes YOU as especially evil. you are a sinner. YOU are that evil you hate, which you know God ought to destroy. you are desperately tossing around terms that don't apply as a last-ditch defense of your bad logic. you are saying that Christians do not view their god as omnipotent and omnibenevolent? His power and goodness are viewed as limited? Those are the attributes I mention. you are not familiar with. you are right about one thing: there is no evidence so far, that she has bothered to actually participate in this discussion (such as it is). YOU ARE AN AUTHORITY ON WHAT IT MEANS. you are pretty much confirming the estimation just made about you. you are attempting to predict. you are incapable of making a compelling argument, maybe just say so. you are participating here according to some general assumptions, one of which is that nobody is likely to fall on their knees the moment you make some pronouncement such as the implication that any contrary opinions expressed, are "hostility". you are to be slave to the first man you meet, with an intellect superior to your own. you are loosed from your moorings and are free; I am fast in my chains, and am a slave! You move merrily before the gentle gale, and I sadly before the bloody whip! you are freedom's swift-winged angels, that fly around the world; I am confined in bands of iron! O that I were free! O that I were on one of your gallant decks and under your protecting wing! Alas, betwixt me and you, the turbid waters roll. you are a leader, success is all about growing yourself. you are not dealing with creatures of logic, but with creatures of emotion. you are not able to manage your distressing emotions, if you can't have empathy and have effective relationships, then no matter how smart you are, you are not going to get very far. you are all you've got. you are a leader, success is all about growing yourself. you are not dealing with creatures of logic, but with creatures of emotion. you are not able to manage your distressing emotions, if you can't have empathy and have

Something is moral or it is,not. you are telling me you believe it is impossible for an all-knowing, all powerful being to overcome the drawbacks of a human economic system and feed starving children. you are proposing to limit the power of your god in such a manner. you are faced with an opportunity to choose how to spend your eternity, your choice will be informed by your life experiences, the suffering of a godless world is easier to understand, endure and see through. you are a deist and not a theist? gpenglase says: October 2017 ,21 at 5:44 am That's a false dichtomy – intervention or interaction doesn't of itself deny anyone free will. you are capable of preventing evil and look the other way, you are complicit in the evil. you are claiming that reality itself is evil and life is not worth living for aggregate humanity. you are not feeding them either. you are not actually seeking an answer – but rather merely seeking to destroy the faith of others. you are parroting an excuse for evil given to you by your preachers and teachers, but if you think about it using your own common sense you will see the excuse in inadequate. you are wrong. you are immoral in that instance. you are contradicting yourself if you say he needs no interpretation and then agree he does in the Bible. you are easily capable of preventing them This goes back to my original question, so let me post it yet again and you can be the first to not dodge answering it. you are saying you believe it is moral for a being that has the power to stop suffering to not act and end it? You actually believe it is moral for your god to stand by while amchild is raped a d watch it rather than stop it? Milton Platt says: May 2017 ,29 at 4:59 pm You believe your god designed the system and set it into motion, didn't right? Therefor he is wholly resposible for any and all results. you are saying that your god is subordinated to Satan, then? Milton Platt says: June 2017 ,1 at 4:37 am and the reason your god acts in an immoral fashion is what? Milton Platt says: June 2017 ,1 at 2:56 am So now Satan is more powerful than your god??? Hugh7 says: June 2017 ,1 at 6:56 am So you have TWO all powerful deities in your universe. you are going to argue about God, then take him on his own terms, don't alter the facts. you are completely missing the point. you are acknowledging that you don't know that these "revelations" you're getting are coming from God? Pierre says: June ,5 2017 at 7:45 pm Annie, what you're doing is explaining why you believe it is god which is revealing himself to you. you are saying he competely reveals himself in ways other than than the Bible, then you have made that collection of stories of little value. you are really making. you are looking for in Revelation 1 to get the right view so as not to be entrenched i nthe past. you are welcome to contact her and ask, or not–that is your choice. you are welcome to structinize to your hearts' content, and even rationalize away rationality while you are at it, but at the end of the day you are just a juror–not a jury. you are making: http://strangenotions. you are saying that reality as defined by you is truth. you are suggesting that I read books that will convince me of your way of thinking. you are using "we" in a collective sense. you are blind to the obvious existence of incredible wonder, complexity and order in the universe which scientific "fact" (not unprovable theory as some false claims are) bears out, doesn't mean that there is a lack of evidence, on a lack of acceptance of the obvious evidence that we behold each day and is continually reinforced from science. you are doing? Still open to chatting, I do understand if you don't want to but still open. you are playing games. you are forced to. you are in the weeds here. you are in denial my friend. you are sadly mistaken my friend. you are content to invoke a miracle of uncaused effects. you are indeed invoking Pascal's Wager, and it is dishonest (and impossible for an internally honest person) to base their belief on fear or hope of the consequences. you are reading the Bible without understanding. you are reading. you are so "at odds" with the rest of the world, you are not following the example associated with narratives about your prophet: Jesus' entire adult life was characterized by a deep concern for the spiritual condition of the nonbeliever. you are as a person" has to do with the celebration of a union that is impossible, that's sad and irrational. you are so sure that your spin on this point is correct, let's see chapter and verse that supports it. you are confused and blinkered. you are confusing correlation with causation. you are worth His life, and he would have died for just you. you are too close-minded to see it. you are wanting empirical evidence for God. you are in a state of cognitive dissonance. you are a superior rationalist looking down on them from a position of mature reason; yet your basic errors of comprehension and logic show the exact opposite to be true – unless of course you don't believe what you write and are merely trolling. you are insisting that God must prevent SOME evil — the kind that strikes YOU as especially evil. you are a sinner. YOU are that evil you hate, which you know God ought to destroy. you are desperately tossing around terms that don't apply as a last-ditch defense of your bad logic. you are saying that Christians do not view their god as omnipotent and omnibenevolent? His power and goodness are viewed as limited? Those are the attributes I mention. you are not familiar with. you are right about one thing: there is no evidence so far, that she has bothered to actually participate in this discussion (such as it is). YOU ARE AN AUTHORITY ON WHAT IT MEANS. you are pretty much confirming the estimation just made about you. you are attempting to predict. you are incapable of making a compelling argument, maybe just say so. you are participating here according to some general assumptions, one of which is that nobody is likely to fall on their knees the moment you make some pronouncement such as the implication that any contrary opinions expressed, are "hostility". you are about and what you value. you are not willing to make the sacrifice, then keep searching. you are beyond that pain. you are patient in one moment of anger, you will avoid one hundred days of sorrow. you are willing to give up being a caterpillar. you are inside of something, say an atom, you only see electrons whirling chaotically around you. you are conceding that it can't be taken on its own merits. you are against weakens you. you are for empowers you. you are not wholeheartedly following your own ideals. you are not present, you are present. you are in a shipwreck and all the boats are gone, a piano top buoyant enough to keep you afloat may come along and make a fortuitous life preserver. you are much more awake than when you are engrossed in thinking. you are not just a drop in the ocean, you the mighty ocean in the drop. you are feeling a lot of grief, you can look right into somebody's eyes because you feel you haven't got anything to lose—you're just there. you are content with your failure. you are never upset for the reason you think. you are avoiding some truth about yourself. you are uninformed; if you do read the newspaper you are misinformed. you are leaping a ravine, the moment of takeoff is a bad time for considering alternative strategies. you are completely absorbed or caught up in something, you become oblivious to things around you, or to the passage of time. you are doing that frees your unconscious and releases your creative imagination. you are depressed, you are living in the past. you are anxious, you are living in the future. you are at peace, you are living in the present. you are working on showing impossibility as discovering the possible, as long as you are rigorous and get rigorous peer review. you are requires letting go of who you imagine yourself to be. you are an aperture through which the universe is looking at and exploring itself. you are the easiest person to fool.

I am happy to see your blog, and I have been reading comments, and the target seems impressive to me. you are looking to play golf on your vacation, check out Sandals Emerald Bay in Exuma (the Bahamas) or Sandals Ochi in Ocho Rios (Jamaica). you are just looking for a relaxed beach vacation including a boat trip or two – the Bahamas has all you need. you are looking for a night out. you are looking to see many in a short period of time, like in the nation's capital of Nassau. you are used to at home, but some travellers prefer Jamaica especially in the months of January and February, for this very reason. you are friendly and give it time, most will become more open. you are looking for a place that is steeped in musical heritage, where the people are hardworking and full of soul, then Jamaica wins here. you are looking to explore lands and seas that where the culture was carved from a more rugged, mystical set of events, where survival was a daily struggle for most, then The Bahamas tip the scales and come out on top. you are visiting any of these Caribbean island getaways, you should have no problem with communication. you are going out for dinner and drinks, expect Jamaica to be ~ %20 cheaper than the Bahamas. you are visiting the destination for the first time. you are staying at a resort. you are using an unsupported browser. you are lazy there are buggies taking you were you want. you are looking for Paradise in tropical island form I'm not convinced you'll find better without being insanely expensive. you are going. you are traveling with. you are loading a pop-up * and block us from opening a new tab. you are using an unsupported browser. you are lazy there are buggies taking you were you want. you are looking for Paradise in tropical island form I'm not convinced you'll find better without being insanely expensive. you are handicapped or have small children. you are going. you are traveling with. you are loading a pop-up * and block us from opening a new tab. you are driving. you are sure to find the relaxation you're seeking out of a Caribbean beach vacation. you are staying at South Seas, you will have access to the resort's private beach. you are looking to play golf on your vacation, check out Sandals Emerald Bay in Exuma (the Bahamas) or Sandals Ochi in Ocho Rios (Jamaica). you are just looking for a relaxed beach vacation including a boat trip or two – the Bahamas has all you need. you are looking for a night out. you are looking to see many in a short period of time, like in the nation's capital of Nassau. you are used to at home, but some travellers prefer Jamaica especially in the months of January and February, for this very reason. you are friendly and give it time, most will become more open. you are looking for a place that is steeped in musical heritage, where the people are hardworking and full of soul, then Jamaica wins here. you are looking to explore lands and seas that where the culture was carved from a more rugged, mystical set of events, where survival was a daily struggle for most, then The Bahamas tip the scales and come out on top. you are visiting any of these Caribbean island getaways, you should have no problem with communication. you are going out for dinner and drinks, expect Jamaica to be ~ %20 cheaper than

I see you. you are lucky with the weather but, good grief, it's just not a serious proposition for anything long term. you are trying to devise a dirigible whale. you are poking? I'm a great wizard, I am! I'll turn you into a mindless ugly toad (second passes) gosh! it worked!" "I'm not a cartoon! I'm just dimensionally impaired. you are fouling up this whole conversation! Mrs. you are just very unlucky. you are saying that because it hasn't happened to you on high doses or to anyone you know, it's not possible to occur in people who don't have violent / psychotic / out-acting inclinations in the first place. you are legally insane" territory. you are a good guy off psychedelics you are a good guy on psychedelics. you are gonna be tripping with people, your responsibility extends not only to ensuring that you don't freak out – that you are not a danger to them – but also to ensuring nobody else is a danger to them. you are 'fighting for your life', whether literally (though illusory) because of hallucinations, or rather existentially and conceptually (like panicking about causality and determinism) becoming violent suddenly seems like a much more natural reaction. you are the Dalai Lama, we all have some badness in us. you are my friend, but I will be forced to call the police if you refuse to honor my instructions regarding leaving the property', etc. you are there to support a friend or to meet a cute girl or because you think you should want to witness the culture around you. you are also the most critically lauded musician in his own time perhaps ever. you are the developer of an approach known as emotion-focused therapy. you are really saying doesn't get heard. you are referring to. you are talking about when you talk about differentiating, having a more differentiated model. you are missing a very intelligent source of information that generally guides adaptive behavior. you are actually reacting to situations, so you are not oriented well in the world. you are angry, you are going to be disoriented in the world. you are a… xyz," right? You can insult or denigrate the other. you are afraid you can access empowering anger, anger will change fear. you are saying is it almost sounds like there's a diagnostic process at the beginning, where you have to figure out what is the emotional difficulty here specifically, and it sounds like that doesn't necessarily articulate with the DSM. you are organized in the therapy session. you are self-critical in the therapy sessions? you are a mispronounced word with eyes stuck in an awkward position just like your parents warned you they would, trying to get a date with one of the cool chicks in your high school & having difficult time of it. you are a foreign agent who accidentally ruptured an emergency cyanide tooth cap just before your rendez-vous with a thin man in a lumber jacket standing by a garbage can on the patio of a McDonald's in Paris, who was to receive an attaché; case containing vital information photo reduced on microfilm which, of course, you have no prior knowledge of.

you are a deftly turned phrase, an etymological landscape, a home by the sea. you are a compilation of more than sixty samples overlaid on top of a digitally synthesized 70s funk groove. you are the message on cassette tape long after it has been recorded over. you are, as such, the eraser head's self-validating ideal of order. you are a festering war wound incurred in a skirmish in the war between the U.S. and canada over rights to a pig farm strategically located on what is now referred to as the world's longest undefended border , making you a better meteorologist than any one of the "big three" networks, or the CBC for that matter, can muster. you are used & abused. you are a distressed property bought by Tom Vu & sold for an outrageous profit. you are ossifying sweat on Robert Plant's performance towel, now in the possession of a man who is thinking about auctioning it off because he has decided he would rather listen to "new country". you are an onion ring with an identity crisis on the Korona Restaurant's "Transylvanian Meat Platter". you are an easy-riding h that just knew you would be stopped by police , cuffed, hauled in & strip searched while you were making your way through the mountains in Georgia. you are everything your mother had hoped for, & more. you are track-lighting gone bad, a one-time energy saver now driving a gas-guzzling '71 Impala. you are considering touching that dial. you are a pretence to universality. you are the top quark. you are one of a family of Dirt Devil ™carpet cleaners. you are wondering at this moment whether you are merely a cleverly disguised rip-off. you are a foreign agent who accidentally ruptured an emergency cyanide tooth cap just before your rendez-vous with a thin man in a lumber jacket standing by a garbage can on the patio of a McDonald's in Paris , who was to receive an attaché; case containing vital information photo reduced on microfilm which, of course, you have no prior knowledge of. you are a mispronounced word with eyes stuck in an awkward position just like your parents warned you they would, trying to get a date with one of the cool chicks in your high school & having difficult time of it. you are fibre ingested by a septuagenarian to promote regularity. you are a face in the crowd. you are secretly responsible for both the mysterious circles appearing overnight in British grainfields & getting the soft-flowing caramel into the Caramilk™ bars. you are not using the Force, Luke.. you are fucked up in your own special way. you are toiling, neither do you spin. you are your own secret twin preparing to make an appearance on Ricki!. you are an immediately perceptible phenomenon elevated to the level of theological unity. you are accurate to a depth of 30m. you are pecs on your pecs. you are thrown out for lack of evidence. you are a nested loop. you are getting sleepy. you are an ode to the west wind. you are made in your own image. you are wanted & loved ...as if. you are a case of halitosis , gingivitis , dandruff & split ends all rolled up into one. you are a granny knot undone by an older & wiser scout leader. you are a piece of performance art that deep down inside wants to be a bust of Beethoven sitting on a Steinway grand piano. you are a primal scream trying to differentiate yourself from an existential scream. you are a hockey stick broken over the spine of a 19th century hunchback you figured had no business playing street hockey in the first place. you are a healthy Hi-Pro™ glow. you are having paranoid delusions that a figure much like Henri Matisse's "Blue Nude" is following you around trying to get you to join the Jehovah's Witnesses. you are the distance between the hyperbolic curve and the y-axis. you are what you eat. you are a reified universal transcendental signifier. you are kind of pissed off that you were never given the choice of whether to be a sequitur or not. you are, and if you aren't, who is?. you are not enough to get over the threshold. you are getting even sleepier. you are a fine piece of work, you are. you are a stupid English k(o)n-ig(g)ht. you are currently in search & destroy mode. you are a -60cycle hum. you are a refutation of the Special Theory of Relativity. you are a parade of endless details. you are the lusts of your father. you are wondering at the audacity of some people who like to tell you just who they think you are you are synaptic information lost in the aphasic shuffle. you are a means of production. you are the line cut out of the final edit by some guy using a PowerBook in a cheesy local Laundromat, or if you aren't you wish you were. you are being completely irrational. you are the wrong answer on the multiple choice section of the LSAT. you are feeling quite overwhelmed , you must say. you are exactly what they've been looking for,and that should frighten you. you are the significant answer in an inkblot test. you are well on your way. you are the space between the heavens and the corner of some foreign field. you are rendered completely useless. you are a B- grade on a C paper. you are so beautiful, to me. you are unconsciously acting upon your cultural biases. you are a game of

tic-tac-toe that, after dealing with an inferiority complex, beat up a game of "globalthermonuclearwar" and kicked the shit out of Pentagon computers. you are on your way to the store to get a litre of milk, when this cow with the head band antlers of a moose sporting black head and over his left eye comes up to you and says " you are on your way to the store to get a litre of milk, when this cow with the head and antlers of a moose sporting black eyepatch over his left eye comes up to you and says "you are..... you are the weak argument in an elaborate doctoral thesis. you are the miracle cure for halitosis, gingivitis, dandruff & split ends all rolled up into one, at least that's what your 19th century procurer, "Dr. Morgan", says as he travels from town to town trying to sell you. you are not butlet's say you are. you are your favourite letter of the alphabet except h cuz that has already been taken. you are an asshole (ee-o-ee-ole). you are a soliloquy on a barren heath in a play which inspired Shakespeare's "King Lear" but has been lost for many centuries, last documented in the Earl of Derby's private collection, 1723. you are billed as the "nicotine patch to the world". you are everything you want in a drugstore. you are only as good as the next guy. you are the eggman,you are the eggman, you are the walrus(kookookechoo). you are shovelling shit in a Roman stable. you are dead now, so shut up!. you are in the process of being palimpsested. you are an incestuous mess. you are available only through this limited TV offer. you are the party of the first part. you are a no-good, lazy son-of-a-bitch. you are often replaced by an apostrophe. you are a big waste of time, for the most part. you are a poor player who struts and frets his hour upon the stage and is heard no more. you are surely mistaken. you area detachable penis. you are therefore you think. you are the side effects of performance enhancing drugs. you are a bad case of blue-balls. you are boldly going where no man has gone before, but only as the disposable crew member who happens to be dumb enough to talk a lump of painted grey styrofoam & therefore, in my humble opinion, deserves to get it anyway. you are translated into 20 different languages. you are not smart, just hard working. you are a painting bought solely for the frame. you are the one really likes it, really. you are not a machine, you are a human being. you are corn, but we call it maize. you are dumb enough to spend your time typing out endless statements that begin with " you are" just to make a point and try to get some laughs, neither of which,in retrospect, you believe you will succeed in. you are the owner of the secret decoder ring, and as such have a right to be president of the club. you are the interest accrued by overnight by some clever electronic banking maneuver. you are, and if you aren't you should be. you are misspelled in a grade six spelling bee by a kid who will eventually serve 8 years in jail for manslaughter. you are better than bad,you're good. you are a quote within a quote desperately trying to escape. you are a most noble swain. you are in absentia. you are engaging in self-nullifying behaviour. you are a vague sense of alienation masked by a friendly, conversational atmosphere. you are a dentist, you take delight in causing great pain. you are the kind of apathy that can only be generated by the "spoken-" vs."written-" word debate. you are a self-consuming artifact. you are an unimportant stanza in an unimportant Bob Southey epic. you are the neurochemical dopamine bridging the gap between the tail of one synapse and the head of another during a bout of particularly raunchy sex with a not-quite-loved one. you are an instance of pre-emptory teleology. you are living in a post-theory, post-language writing,post-sound-poetry, post-literate age, so let's stop writing crap that pretends that you aren't. you are going to sell out the first chance you get. you are yawning -- stop it!. you are a persnickety line removed at the friendly request of an editor who thinks its potential offensiveness is enhanced by the mere fact of its referential obscurity. you are all out toget me, damn you!. you are mixing memory with desire. you are sitting with a soggy ass at some reading in High Park really wishing you were somewhere else. you are a portable Greek reader that is going to party like it's 1999. you are going on with your doggy life. you are the interplay between the quotidian& the extraordinary. you are a Captain's log, supplemental. you are a metonymic slide. you are a pipefitter with a penchant for Descartian ontology. you are everyday people. you are believing this crap they're feeding you. you are thinking that you looked better before the makeover. you are a bird, no, wait, you are a plane, no, hell! you're superman!. you are an uninterrupted series of dots that hasn't come to terms with being a line yet. you are an ill-used neural cluster removed to get at a deep-seated brain tumour. you are fading away when you would rather be burning out. you are a linguistic trap set to catch some good eatin' possum. you are eleven benevolent elephants. you are damp semen soaked into the centrefold. you are a registered trademark of the Coca-Cola corporation. you are the supreme arbiter and lawgiver of music. you are woman, hear you roar. you are never going to amount to a hill of beans in the world. you are bad advice foisted on some love-sick puppy. you are an axiom proved false. you are the cruelest month. you are an error in grammar identified by the latest in word processing technology. you are flown to your destination on Delta Airlines. you are the book in the spirit machine. you are a dadaist who needs to love & be loved. you are hoping that you will never have to hear that fucker read his damn poem again but are resigned to that fact that you probably will. you are in more closets than you wish to admit. you are someone with the debilitating habit of cutting against the grain. you are going, going, gone. you are a likely consumer of rubber nipples. you are a long-lost jazz score that no one would have played anyway. you are a last will & testament. you are an unceremonious exit.

you are working in it. you are a -13inch Air users you're in a completely different category of notebook consumers. you are right about the tank. you are used to (or care a lot like I do) about the size and accessibility of the '13 Air. you are a seriously CG / Cad application user) , and other personal belonging …etc All add-up with a solid weight. you are carrying with you before you start sacrificing performance of important tools to save weight. you are a real pro (=working with 24 bit PSD files with dozens of layers, ingesting GBs of Red camera footage) you already know your needs. you are connected to the Internet. you are wondering if we skipped a step, you are wrong. you are limited to 640x480 pixels and 960x540 pixels. you are out of luck. you are diligent enough to create a new project on a separate hard drive, your render files must live in the same folder. you are working on a low-power machine. you are pondering your next edit, FCPX will use those down cycles to execute a number of different tasks including transcoding, content auto-analysis for stabilize shaky footage, or removing background noise from audio. you are probably not a person who needs to upgrade to Final Cut Pro X. you are not likely to see them in future updates to the software. you are willing to spend the money to sample pro features and haven't used the app for years (like professionals), you might find the new way of doing things more palatable. you are logged in as. you are not allowed to buy this iPad. you are a nice person. you are making that even harder for them. you are absolutely no different then someone selling them on eBay. you are acting as an unauthorized reseller. you are all the time. you are beyond ignorant. you are an embarrassment to Apple. you are not saying silly things. you are the omniscient guru that knows everything. you are wintel jakes carcking on the mac guys are truly cross platform knowledgable? I can say that I am a Windows professional who uses a Mac at home along with a large number of us. you are part of a "club" that tells you that you are. you are you inebriate dumb shit. you are going on vacation on Facebook so that thieves know when to break into your house. you are saying, prime example you said you own both apple and pc, yet people continue to slate you as if you are saying you r all about pc's and hate mac's which you haven't said at all. you are not cool enough to have our products. you are not a fan of facebook also. you are reselling their products without authorization. you are brainwashed by the notion that Apple users get less computer for their buck. you are motivating people who don't want them to go buy them and sell them to those who want more than 2. you are causing a scene and distraction and you have to leave the store ~!@!@! Halfsjj I would have popped them upside the head with it and said show me in writing what the rules are. you are charging a decent price? Give me a break. you are just passing on your experience. you are banned for life!" This is reasonable to you? Maybe you shouldn't judge the maturity of others here, son. you are not supposed to know". you are so desperate fanboy you need the iPad NOW, THIS MINUTE. you are being too hard on apple, actually what happened was they did not have the brains. you are a fan of the show, you heard that familiar 90s-tinge sound enough times to make finishing the video worth it). you are using a desktop PC and you already have those things, plugging them in is all you should need to do to get them to work. you are looking for a Mac-based home media server. you are working with software that's optimized for multiple cores. you are looking at pictures, but in real life, it's different: the Mac Pro is less than 10 inches tall. you are not hard-wiring this beast to your network, you'll see some smoking wireless networking speed. you are on a budget, especially if you have a display, keyboard and mouse from another computer - Mac or PC - that you can recycle. you are in an endeavor where you are sitting around waiting for your computer to do something - whether it's color-correcting an hour of high-definition video or calculating genetic variance - the Mac Pro may be a good system for you to own. you are working with Windows tools you are comfortable with, bear in mind you can always use Boot Camp and reboot into Windows, or virtualization software like VMWare Fusion or Parallels Desktop to run Windows apps simultaneously with OS X. you are talking about a Time Capsule, then yeah. you are reading this on Philip Bloom's blog, you are likely one of these media 'master of all trades. you are editing, creating, screening, and outputting, it's an emotional experience. you are bound to find some small, new way to to approach editing. you are a designer, audio engineer, or a film editor, you need to have faith that you are on a viable platform for the future. you are committing thousands of dollars into hardware and software, and thousands of hours of your life into a platform, you don't want it to be neglected or abandoned. you are familiar with relinking media in FCP 7 you will appreciate being able to re-link your own files. you are lucky if you don't know what it is) because you don't have to click that much and could potentially work very fast and the organisation/filter/smart collection features are just awesome as well, saves soooo much time and these are soo expected in 2012! dhoot says: April 2012 ,25 at 18:48 I've used Non-linear editing systems for 15 years. Contributions Load More Responses. you are able to either a) obtain one for yourself or b) have an opportunity to try it out. you are editing single stream video, even high-resolution, the four-core system will be more than adequate. you are editing with Premiere Pro CC or Final Cut Pro X, both max out GPU performance. you are getting Thunderbolt speeds. you are probably right, Larry is referring to the boot drive. you are correct. you are buying a phone, an everyday use gadget. you are mistaken about FCPX being on life support. you are working with small files over and over, or doing lots of database transactions. you are buying the Drobo 5D, buy the card. you are working with the same media over and over, the SSD won't make much difference in playback speed. you are doing regular video editing by dropping clips to the Timeline, the Drobo is plenty fast. you are dealing with something as critical as storage, you really need to be sure that the hardware works properly with all the other hardware that's out there," he said. you are looking for the fastest-possible RAID, the Drobo 5D is not it. you are editing large multicam events with video stored in ProRes format. you are looking for a reasonably fast, highly-expandable, Thunderbolt RAID5-, the Drobo 5D is an excellent choice. you are correct. you are not doing heavy multicam work – more than 4 cameras – the Drobo Mini should be fine. you are using. you are taking days to compress something, there is something wrong with your compression settings. you are correct, the Drobo 5D is best used for protected storage, not speed. you ARE doing is dissipating heat. you are using this solely for backup and not operations, you don't need an SSD card. you are used to what you already know, but if you take the time to learn it, I guarantee you'll never look back. you are aware that Macs and OS X have been 64bit for years now? Also, for some reason most folks don't realize that you can buy an NVIDIA card from folks like macvidcards that will greatly improve the performance of pro apps on a Mac Pro. you are absolutely right, the people who complain the loudest are those that when you read their story, haven't actually tried FCPX. you are offended apple changed FCP? Maybe apple don't have the edge in advancement they once had, maybe thats your reason. you are against the wall, between a tight schedule and a shrinking budget, and it's on your shoulders deliver a sustained quality product on time, so your bosses could issue six-figured invoices for a show that millions are watching, then experimentation takes second to reliability. you are so used to 'leading' the market to where you think we should go, you've got the people that put their faith in you lost in a desert. you are reading these forums to decide whether to use it, my answer is, only if you must, and maybe not even then. you are a regular user and not very technically savvy, I would recommend backing up your photos, videos, documents and other things you require and then wiping the disk clean and reinstalling OS X. you are not doing all of this typing on the same machine. you are using a desktop PC and you already have those things, plugging them in is all you should need to do to get them to work. you are looking for a Mac-based home media server. you are working with software that's optimized for multiple cores. you are looking at pictures, but in real life, it's different: the Mac Pro is less than 10 inches tall. you are not hard-wiring this beast to your network, you'll see some smoking wireless networking speed. you are on a budget, especially if you have a display, keyboard and mouse from another computer - Mac or PC - that you can recycle. you are in an endeavor where you are sitting around waiting for your computer to do something - whether it's color-correcting an hour of high-definition video or calculating genetic variance - the Mac Pro may be a good system for you to own. you are working with Windows tools you are comfortable with, bear in mind you can always use Boot Camp and reboot into Windows, or virtualization software like VMWare Fusion or Parallels Desktop to run Windows apps simultaneously with OS X. you are talking about a Time Capsule, then yeah. you are not my father. you are just the guy that married my mother. you are seeing are actual shots of the real Area 51 taken by a conspiracy theorist from a place called "Freedom Ridge". you are near your smart phone – the NSA or private parties could remotely activate your microphone and camera and spy on you. you are anti-liberty, anti-justice, anti-American.

you are a deftly turned phrase, an etymological landscape, a home by the sea. you are a compilation of more than sixty samples overlaid on top of a digitally synthesized 70s funk groove. you are the message on cassette tape long after it has been recorded over. you are, as such, the eraser head's self-validating ideal of order. you are a festering war wound incurred in a skirmish in the war between the U.S. and canada over rights to a pig farm strategically located on what is now referred to as the world's longest undefended border , making you a better meteorologist than any one of the "big three" networks, or the CBC for that matter, can muster. you are used & abused. you are a distressed property bought by Tom Vu & sold for an outrageous profit. you are ossifying sweat on Robert Plant's performance towel, now in the possession of a man who is thinking about auctioning it off because he has decided he would rather listen to "new country". you are an onion ring with an identity crisis on the Korona Restaurant's "Transylvanian Meat Platter". you are an easy-riding h that just knew you would be stopped by police , cuffed, hauled in & strip searched while you were making your way through the mountains in Georgia. you are everything your mother had hoped for, & more. you are track-lighting gone bad, a one-time energy saver now driving a gas-guzzling '71 Impala. you are considering touching that dial. you are a pretence to universality. you are the top quark. you are one of a family of Dirt Devil ™carpet cleaners. you are wondering at this moment whether you are merely a cleverly disguised rip-off. you are a foreign agent who accidentally ruptured an emergency cyanide tooth cap just before your rendez-vous with a thin man in a lumber jacket standing by a garbage can on the patio of a McDonald's in Paris , who was to receive an attaché; case containing vital information photo reduced on microfilm which, of course, you have no prior knowledge of. you are a mispronounced word with eyes stuck in an awkward position just like your parents warned you they would, trying to get a date with one of the cool chicks in your high school & having difficult time of it. you are fibre ingested by a septuagenarian to promote regularity. you are a face in the crowd. you are secretly responsible for both the mysterious circles appearing overnight in British grainfields & getting the soft-flowing caramel into the Caramilk™ bars. you are not using the Force, Luke.. you are fucked up in your own special way. you are toiling, neither do you spin. you are your own secret twin preparing to make an appearance on Ricki!. you are an immediately perceptible phenomenon elevated to the level of theological unity. you are accurate to a depth of 30m. you are pecs on your pecs. you are thrown out for lack of evidence. you are a nested loop. you are getting sleepy. you are an ode to the west wind. you are made in your own image. you are wanted & loved ...as if. you are a case of halitosis , gingivitis , dandruff & split ends all rolled up into one. you are a granny knot undone by an older & wiser scout leader. you are a piece of performance art that deep down inside wants to be a bust of Beethoven sitting on a Steinway grand piano. you are a primal scream trying to differentiate yourself from an existential scream. you are a hockey stick broken over the spine of a 19th century hunchback you figured had no business playing street hockey in the first place. you are a healthy Hi-Pro™ glow. you are having paranoid delusions that a figure much like Henri Matisse's "Blue Nude" is following you around trying to get you to join the Jehovah's Witnesses. you are the distance between the hyperbolic curve and the y-axis. you are what you eat. you are a reified universal transcendental signifier. you are kind of pissed off that you were never given the choice of whether to be a sequitur or not. you are, and if you aren't, who is?. you are not enough to get over the threshold. you are getting even sleepier. you are a fine piece of work, you are. you are a stupid English k(o)n-ig(g)ht. you are currently in search & destroy mode. you are a -60cycle hum. you are a refutation of the Special Theory of Relativity. you are a parade of endless details. you are the lusts of your father. you are wondering at the audacity of some people who like to tell you just who they think you are you are synaptic information lost in the aphasic shuffle. you are a means of production. you are the line cut out of the final edit by some guy using a PowerBook in a cheesy local Laundromat, or if you aren't you wish you were. you are being completely irrational. you are the wrong answer on the multiple choice section of the LSAT. you are feeling quite overwhelmed , you must say. you are exactly what they've been looking for,and that should frighten you. you are the significant answer in an inkblot test. you are well on your way. you are the space between the heavens and the corner of some foreign field. you are rendered completely useless. you are a B- grade on a C paper. you are so beautiful, to me. you are unconsciously acting upon your cultural biases. you are a game of tic-tac-toe that, after dealing with an inferiority complex, beat up a game of "globalthermonuclearwar" and kicked the shit out of Pentagon computers. you are on your way to the store to get a litre of milk, when this cow with the head band antlers of a moose sporting black head and over his left eye comes up to you and says " you are on your way to the store to get a litre of milk, when this cow with the head and antlers of a moose sporting black eyepatch over his left eye comes up to you and says "you are..... you are the weak argument in an elaborate doctoral thesis. you are the miracle cure for halitosis, gingivitis, dandruff & split ends all rolled up into one, at least that's what your 19th century procurer, "Dr. Morgan", says as he travels from town to town trying to sell you. you are not butlet's say you are. you are your favourite letter of the alphabet except h cuz that has already been taken. you are an asshole (ee-o-ee-ole). you are a soliloquy on a barren heath in a play which inspired Shakespeare's "King Lear" but has been lost for many centuries, last documented in the Earl of Derby's private collection, 1723. you are billed as the "nicotine patch to the world". you are everything you want in a drugstore. you are only as good as the next guy. you are the eggman,you are the eggman, you are the walrus(kookookechoo). you are shovelling shit in a Roman stable. you are dead now, so shut up!. you are in the process of being palimpsested. you are an incestuous mess. you are available only through this limited TV offer. you are the party of the first part. you are a no-good, lazy son-of-a-bitch. you are often replaced by an apostrophe. you are a big waste of time, for the most part. you are a poor player who struts and frets his hour upon the stage and is heard no more. you are surely mistaken. you area detachable penis. you are therefore you think. you are the side effects of performance enhancing drugs. you are a bad case of blue-balls. you are boldly going where no man has gone before, but only as the disposable crew member who happens to be dumb enough to talk a lump of painted grey styrofoam & therefore, in my humble opinion, deserves to get it anyway. you are translated into 20 different languages. you are not smart, just hard working. you are a painting bought solely for the frame. you are the one really likes it, really. you are not a machine, you are a human being. you are corn, but we call it maize. you are dumb enough to spend your time typing out endless statements that begin with " you are" just to make a point and try to get some laughs, neither of which,in retrospect, you believe you will succeed in. you are the owner of the secret decoder ring, and as such have a right to be president of the club. you are the interest accrued by overnight by some clever electronic banking maneuver. you are, and if you aren't you should be. you are misspelled in a grade six spelling bee by a kid who will eventually serve 8 years in jail for manslaughter. you are better than bad,you're good. you are a quote within a quote desperately trying to escape. you are a most noble swain. you are in absentia. you are engaging in self-nullifying behaviour. you are a vague sense of alienation masked by a friendly, conversational atmosphere. you are a dentist, you take delight in causing great pain. you are the kind of apathy that can only be generated by the "spoken-" vs."written-" word debate. you are a self-consuming artifact. you are an unimportant stanza in an unimportant Bob Southey epic. you are the neurochemical dopamine bridging the gap between the tail of one synapse and the head of another during a bout of particularly raunchy sex with a not-quite-loved one. you are an instance of pre-emptory teleology. you are living in a post-theory, post-language writing,post-sound-poetry, post-literate age, so let's stop writing crap that pretends that you aren't. you are going to sell out the first chance you get. you are yawning -- stop it!. you are a persnickety line removed at the friendly request of an editor who thinks its potential offensiveness is enhanced by the mere fact of its referential obscurity. you are all out toget me, damn you!. you are mixing memory with desire. you are sitting with a soggy ass at some reading in High Park really wishing you were somewhere else. you are a portable Greek reader that is going to party like it's 1999. you are going on with your doggy life. you are the interplay between the quotidian& the extraordinary. you are a Captain's log, supplemental. you are a metonymic slide. you are a pipefitter with a penchant for Descartian ontology. you are everyday people. you are believing this crap they're feeding you. you are thinking that you looked better before the makeover. you are a bird, no, wait, you are a plane, no, hell! you're superman!. you are an uninterrupted series of dots that hasn't come to terms with being a line yet. you are an ill-used neural cluster removed to get at a deep-seated brain tumour. you are fading away when you would rather be burning out. you are a linguistic trap set to catch some good eatin' possum. you are eleven benevolent elephants. you are damp semen soaked into the centrefold. you are a registered trademark of the Coca-Cola corporation. you are the supreme arbiter and lawgiver of music. you are woman, hear you roar. you are never going to amount to a hill of beans in the world. you are bad advice foisted on some love-sick puppy. you are an axiom proved false. you are the cruelest month. you are an error in grammar identified by the latest in word processing technology. you are flown to your destination on Delta Airlines. you are the book in the spirit machine. you are a dadaist who needs to love & be loved. you are hoping that you will never have to hear that fucker read his damn poem again but are resigned to that fact that you probably will. you are in more closets than you wish to admit. you are someone with the debilitating habit of cutting against the grain. you are going, going, gone. you are a likely consumer of rubber nipples. you are a long-lost jazz score that no one would have played anyway. you are a last will & testament. you are an unceremonious exit.

you are a service member and it isn't your unit's event, you can go in uniform or wear formal attire. you are going to have a great time! I would look for a super classy "Christmas" dress. you are so young :). you are attending and I will dig a little deeper. you are about to attend is about the service member not the guests. you are wise beyond your years :). you are thinking of ordering. you are who you are and YOU are not in the service. you are going to have so much fun. you are meeting new people, especially those in his ROTC unit, shake their hand, look them in the eye and say, "Nice to meet you. you are not alone. you are 20 or 30 know your appropriate dress. you are looking for. you are going to have to wing that part :). you are most likely using the correct piece then. you are a girlfriend or a spouse! Just be yourself and have fun. you are going to have a ton of fun! Danya Kerry says: September 2014 ,23 at 10:36 AM I was invited to a ball in November by a lady from work whose son is the the Marines. you are going to LOVE it! I would guess that he should wear his uniform. you are stressed. you are there. you are going to love it! Danya Heather says: October 2014 ,1 at 8:51 AM Is this dress appropriate for a Marine ball http://www. you are going to have a fabulous night!! Danya Marisela says: October 2014 ,28 at 1:23 AM Thank you Danya for your response!! I'm more calm now I hope I have fun I'm excited! Danya says: October ,28 2014 at 11:47 AM Hey Marisela, It's going to be great! Enjoy!! Danya Dana says: October 2014 ,30 at 6:17 PM How fun and exciting! Love to read the comments from new military spouses and significant others. you are concerned about your cleavage, the extra fabric will be perfect. you are going to love the ball. you are the service member, you'll want to check with your leadership to find out if they're allowing female service members to wear gowns or if you're required to wear your uniform. you are 21 :)). you are in a warm climate, a summer looking dress would be fine maybe with a cardigan or scarf. you are chosen to go to a ball! My husband thinks that it is a post wide event…but if that's the case wouldn't we know? Basically my question is how are you invited to a ball? I feel stupid for not knowing this but all I can do is learn! Danya says: January 2015 ,6 at 8:56 PM Hi Josie, You do not have to be "chosen" to go to the ball. you are not stupid! My husband has been in the Navy for 19 years and I am still learning. you are going to be just fine. you are going to have an amazing night! Do you know what the dress is for the service members? The guys would want to follow what the service members are wearing. you are able to go to your first ball! you are going to love it!! What part of the country you are in? If it's cold, I would go with a long gown for sure. you are in CA or FL, you could go with a shorter dress, just not TOO short ;). you are young and all ;), I would wear some opaque tights to help stay warm. you are young, so that is a plus! My forty year old self should not show up to the banquet in a short red dress :). you are more than welcome to send me a picture, and I will take a look. you are thinking about for the dining out. you are still in high school :). you are thinking and I will help you work it out. you are re-cycling one of your dresses. you are spot on with your choice. you are going to have such an awesome night. you are finding on YouTube is pretty much spot on. you are in and where your boyfriend is working. you are considering. you are totally on the right track knowing that too much cleavage wouldn't be appropriate. you are never, never, never expected to have sex with anyone! This is by no means a tradition!! My husband and I have gotten hotels rooms in the past for military balls. you are both on the same page. you are going to see all kinds. you are nervous especially since you haven't seen this guy since HS graduation. you are following your gut :)! Yes, we have so many blogs on our site. you are searching for in the search bar. you are awesome! Danya says: September 2015 ,14 at 11:35 AM Anytime :)! Trinette says: September 2015 ,13 at 12:55 PM What should one wear to a military ball that has a white tie dress code and formal ballroom dancing? Danya says: September 2015 ,14 at 11:22 AM Hey Trinette, It sounds like you are going to be headed to an awesome ball! I am a bit jealous. you are going to have such a great time. you are uncomfortable in. you are getting the opportunity to attend a JROTC ball. you are so concerned about the ball this Friday. you are cold. you are uncomfortable. you are going through a receiving line, but to anyone else who you might meet, your first name is who you might meet, your first name is just fine. you are not alone! Enjoy the speeches, toast with your water glass, have a great dinner and take it all in. you are super concerned about your streaks, let them go for a couple of weeks. you are and wouldn't have asked you to come if he were worried about you disrespecting the military. you are socially awkward and also already thinking about dancing. you are going to be just fine :). you are in the program, if not you can probably get away with almost anything as long as it's appropriate. you are looking for? I am not sure there is one place you can go to get that kind of information. you are looking for a ball on a specific base or specific branch of service and I will see what I can find out. you are totally welcome to attend his military ball. you are going to have a blast. you are not sure what to wear, definitely […] Cecilia says: March 2017 ,1 at 11:18 AM I might be going to my very first Cadet Ball yahhhhh Meaghan Brown says: March 2017 ,25 at 12:16 PM Ok, my boyfriend invited me to his mil ball at the university. Hitch : My name is Alex Hitchens. you are all about the short game. you are able to experience the unconditional love, trust and openness that I share with Grace every single day. you are saying. you are feeling good about yourself the way you focus your eyes, position your mouth, and maneuver your shoulders, hips, and hands send out signals that say, 'Check me out! I think you are hot!' After you get your target's attention you shift gears to hold onto his or her interest and move the attraction to another level. you are for a bit of romance, how attractive you feel, and how interested you are. you are rating someone's attractiveness and in turn are being rated, messages that convey interest, keenness, and compatibility are constantly being relayed. you are not aware that you are touching or stroking yourself. you are correct on both the emotional and physical levels. you are a woman, you will probably be disappointed with our summary of male courtship signals. you are likely to see, much of which is focused around his genitals. you are a man and you want to find out which women like you, wear a neatly pressed suit and tie, but wear the tie slightly off to one side and put a little lint on one shoulder. you are enjoying your life, and the next you are wondering how you ever lived without them. you are sending all the right signals - no earrings, heels under two inches, your hair is pulled back, you are wearing reading glasses with no book, drinking a Grey Goose martini, which means you had a hell of a week and a beer just wouldn't do it. you are saying you can make this work?Hitch: My name is Alex Hitchens. you are Sarah. you are flat out, out of your mind, you know that?Albert: I know. you are becoming a sick workaholic lunatic. you are a scam artist. you are saying. you are looking for? Basic principles: No matter what, no matter when, no matter who. you are shy, be shy. you are outgoing, be outgoing. you are wondering what to say, how you look, or if she likes you. you are enjoying your life. you are wondering how you ever lived without them. you are on your own. you are a realist masquerading as a cynic who is secretly an optimist. you are becoming a sick, workaholic lunatic. you are so good at your job. you are all about the short game. you are able to experience. you are not sick. you are single. you are gonna home, and I'll take them back to my apartment. you are doing it right now. you are interested? - No. you are crushing my arm. you are flat-out. you are in the room, be in the room. you are done. you are welcome. you are sending all the right signals: no earrings, heels under two inches, your hair is pulled back. you are the. you are right. you are not going to church. you are a lot taller than I remember. you are going until you know where you've been. you are seeing him again? Well, look, you said that I'm always expecting men. you are at lunch? Allegra. you are an iceberg. you are there. you are not being real with them. you are a great guy. you are not. you are not worried about it. you are not, all right? This is where you live. you are not listening. you are really not, so. you are dropping me off at home. you are not most guys. you are supposed to call me. you are married, the less you go out. you are being odd. you are really gonna enjoy this. you are being all discreet. you are a consultant, Hitch. you are all right? Yeah, I'm fine. you are never gonna know that. you are gliding along. you are standing in the rain watching your life fall apart. you are such an idiot! You moron! What the hell did you think? you are so stupid! You gotta learn, Sara. you are a morning person, aren't you? Well, like I always tell my clients: Begin each day as if it were on purpose. you are right, there's no way he ever had a mother. you are a living testimonial to the triumph of hope over experience. you are mad at me for what I do for a living? I've already got your number. you are in my seat. you are not supposed to move. you are Ellis Island? - I thought that was real sweet. you are not helping. you are the Date Doctor, right? - you are the Date Doctor? - Do we have a problem here? Yeah, a big one! What the hell did I ever do to you? Am I missing something? Sir, I'm gonna have to ask you to leave. you are a scam artist. you are so guarded. you are selling this stuff, but you don't believe in your own product. you are choking. you are sensitive to that, hit the back button now. you are sending all the right signals - no earrings, heels under two inches, your hair is pulled back, you are wearing reading glasses with no book, drinking a Grey Goose martini, which means you had a hell of a week and a beer just wouldn't do it. you are going to get or experience in online dating. you are in your life :-). you are giving off - if you're breathing and female they are going to make comments about your assets. you are a great girl with alot to offer. you are happy to just go home and be with someone who gets you. you are a service member and it isn't your unit's event, you can go in uniform or wear formal attire. you are going to have a great time! I would look for a super classy "Christmas" dress. you are so young :). you are attending and I will dig a little deeper. you are about to attend is about the service member not the guests. you are wise beyond your years :). you are thinking of ordering. you are who you are and YOU are not in the service. you are going to have so much fun. you are meeting new people, especially those in his ROTC unit, shake their hand, look them in the eye and say, "Nice to meet you. you are not alone. you are 20 or 30 know your appropriate dress. you are looking for. you are going to have to wing that part :). you are most likely using the correct piece then. you are a girlfriend or a spouse! Just be yourself and have fun. you are going to have a ton of fun! Danya Kerry says: September 2014 ,23 at 10:36 AM I was invited to a ball in November by a lady from work whose son is the the Marines. you are going to LOVE it! I would guess that he should wear his uniform. you are stressed. you are there. you are going to love it! Danya Heather says: October 2014 ,1 at 8:51 AM Is this dress appropriate for a Marine ball http://www. you are going to have a fabulous night!! Danya Marisela says: October 2014 ,28 at 1:23 AM Thank you Danya for your response!! I'm more calm now I hope I have fun I'm excited! Danya says: October 2014 ,28 at 11:47 AM Hey Marisela, It's going to be great! Enjoy!! Danya Dana says: October 2014 ,30 at 6:17 PM How fun and exciting! Love to read the comments from new military spouses and significant others. you are concerned about your cleavage, the extra fabric will be perfect. you are going to love the ball. you are the

are the service member, you'll want to check with your leadership to find out if they're allowing female service members to wear gowns or if you're required to wear your uniform. you are 21 :)). you are in a warm climate, a summer looking dress would be fine maybe with a cardigan or scarf. you are chosen to go to a ball! My husband thinks that it is a post wide event… but if that's the case wouldn't we know? Basically my question is how are you invited to a ball? I feel stupid for not knowing this but all I can do is learn! Danya says: January 2015 ,6 at 8:56 PM Hi Josie, You do not have to be "chosen" to go to the ball. you are not stupid! My husband has been in the Navy for 19 years and I am still learning. you are going to be just fine. you are going to have an amazing night! Do you know what the dress is for the service members? The guys would want to follow what the service members are wearing. you are able to go to your first ball! you are going to love it!! What part of the country you are in? If it's cold, I would go with a long gown for sure. you are in CA or FL, you could go with a shorter dress, just not TOO short ;). you are young and all ;), I would wear some opaque tights to help stay warm. you are young, so that is a plus! My forty year old self should not show up to the banquet in a short red dress :). you are more than welcome to send me a picture, and I will take a look. you are thinking about for the dining out. you are still in high school :). you are thinking and I will help you work it out. you are re-cycling one of your dresses. you are spot on with your choice. you are going to have such an awesome night. you are finding on YouTube is pretty much spot on. you are in and where your boyfriend is working. you are considering. you are totally on the right track knowing that too much cleavage wouldn't be appropriate. you are never, never, never expected to have sex with anyone! This is by no means a tradition!! My husband and I have gotten hotels rooms in the past for military balls. you are both on the same page. you are going to see all kinds. you are nervous especially since you haven't seen this guy since HS graduation. you are following your gut :)! Yes, we have so many blogs on our site. you are searching for in the search bar. you are awesome! Danya says: September 2015 ,14 at 11:35 AM Anytime :)! Trinette says: September 2015 ,13 at 12:55 PM What should one wear to a military ball that has a white tie dress code and formal ballroom dancing? Danya says: September 2015 ,14 at 11:22 AM Hey Trinette, It sounds like you are going to be headed to an awesome ball! I am a bit jealous. you are going to have such a great time. you are uncomfortable in. you are getting the opportunity to attend a JROTC ball. you are so concerned about the ball this Friday. you are cold. you are uncomfortable. you are going through a receiving line, but to anyone else who you might meet, your first anyone else who you might meet, your first name is just fine. you are not alone! Enjoy the speeches, toast with your water glass, have a great dinner and take it all in. you are super concerned about your streaks, let them go for a couple of weeks. you are and wouldn't have asked you to come if he were worried about you disrespecting the military. you are socially awkward and also already thinking about dancing. you are going to be just fine :). you are in the program, if not you can probably get away with almost anything as long as it's appropriate. you are looking for? I am not sure there is one place you can go to get that kind of information. you are looking for a ball on a specific base or specific branch of service and I will see what I can find out. you are totally welcome to attend his military ball. you are going to have a blast. you are not sure what to wear, definitely […] Cecilia says: March 2017 ,1 at 11:18 AM I might be going to my very first Cadet Ball yahhhhh Meaghan Brown says: March 2017 ,25 at 12:16 PM Ok, my boyfriend invited me to his mil ball at the university. you are an intriguing, interesting, engaging person! Yes, I have met thousands of people at speaking events, conferences and networking parties and I have never met a boring person. you are emotionally available to connect. you are there and what you are looking for. you are not alone if you struggle with these basic attraction questions? Is she attracted to me?Does he like me?Why didn't they call? Body language will give you the tools to know where you stand. you are engaged. you are in a group of people and you are interested in one person in the group. you are interested is by leaning toward them. you are speaking with someone, let them know you are present and interested by tilting your head and gazing at them. you are in a very public or potentially dangerous location, she could be gripping her purse for safety concerns, but in a casual place or on a date this can be a good indicator. you are holding their hand, then you might want to go in for a kiss. you are spending time with, and you might care about their well being, but you probably won't be that interested in getting to know them. you are romantically attracted to someone and you also want to have sex with them, you have patience. you are meant to be with the person, you will be with them. you are more prone to take your time. you are in love with someone, and it's right, it seems like you both have all of the time in the world. you are all so fucking pompous. you are not getting your hair cut, you don't have to move your brother's clothes down to the lower peg. you are all dead. you are dead tired. you are playing football or anything, try and favor the other leg. you are dead now, so shut up. you are so big. you are so strong and, well, just so super. you are not innocent. you are breathing so I guess you are still alive even if signs seem to tell me otherwise. you are trying to say is you don't wanna play. you are dancing in quicksand. you are wandering? Why don't you watch where you are stumbling? you are wading knee deep and going in. you are a stupid, dumb ass, belligerent fucker. you are saturating me. you are not qualified. you are so big! you are dead tired. you are looking for $19. So absolutely huge. you are playing any football try and favor the other leg. you are feeling very small and insecure, How amazing unlikely is your birth, And pray that there's intelligent life somewhere up in space 'Cause there's bugger all down here on Earth. you are dead now, so shut up. you are all so fucking pompous. you are all so fucking pompous and none of you have got any balls. you are dead now, so shut up. you are a guest in this house and you are dead tired.

fucker. you are saturating me. you are dead now, so shut up!
HOWARD: Dead?
GRIM REAPER: Dead.

you are a guest in this house, and-- [whack] Ah!
Oh. you are all so fucking pompous, and none of you have got any balls. you are the one who knocks. you are dead tired.
